Gender Equality, Disability and Social Inclusion (GEDSI) Policy 2023-2026

April 2024, Version 2

Nepal Environment and Integrated Sustainable Action Foundation (NESAF) is a non-profit distributing and service-oriented social organization implementing a multidisciplinary program and providing consulting services registered in 2014. It provides services and supports its clients through research and development, project development and implementation, monitoring and evaluation, training and advocacy, agriculture produce, value chain and marketing. While providing services to clients, visiting the communities and interacting with the local population, we also commit ourselves to adopting approaches and strategies for meaningful involvement and participation of all concerned.

We understand that different drivers of discrimination act as barriers that exclude people and make them more vulnerable. These drivers (but are not limited to) include caste and ethnicity, gender, age, gender identity, disability, sexual orientation, poverty, voice, opportunities, and representations.

The NESAF's GEDSI policy ensures the interventions are well-informed and guided by the analysis of gender, disability and social inclusion issues within Nepal's socio-cultural, economic, environmental, and political context. The policy also guides and undertakes interventions linked to its mission, vision and objectives.

GEDSI principles which apply in all NESAF's decision-making and activities –

Do no harm: Our activities will not disclose the identity of respondents/participants without their consent (written/verbal) nor tell their individual stories, image and sensitive information without their explicit approval.

Non-discrimination: We aim to remove barriers that may prevent fair and equitable participation, contribution, and benefits, particularly for poor women, gender identity, persons with disabilities and vulnerable groups.

Diversity and intersectionality: NESAF values diversity and intersectionality, which are taken into consideration in the design, implementation, data collection, and monitoring and evaluation of activities.

Our approach –

Design and implementation: Assess GEDSI in our main activities (design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation) to ensure that programs are inclusive.

Use of language: Utilising gender and disability inclusive language in our communications, and refraining from using language that reinforce negative stereotypes.

Code of conduct: Ensuring that all NESAF Staff, Board members and any consultants involved in NESAF's activities understand and sign the Organisational Code of Conduct.

Gender sensitive workplace: Fostering a gender and disability-sensitive workplace that is safe, which protects against discrimination and harassment in the workplace and which has accountability mechanisms to address harassment issues.

The executive committee will review this policy every three years or sooner if necessary, and incorporate any lessons learnt into future versions.

Date: April 2024 (Approved by the executive committee)
